Time	Class is from 8a-4:30p (16 hour course) Attire is Casual, Law Enforcement Personnel Only
Instructed By: George Chavez	Hosted By : St. Petersburg College-Allstate Center

Description:

This course focuses on Social Media and the impact it has on crime and investigations. Students will become familiar with gaining a deeper understanding on how social media will impact their investigations. We will also look at open source searching with practical exercises on how we can use this information to not only gain intelligence on criminals, but to better protect ourselves from our digital footprint. The course focuses on creating undercover profiles and accounts and how to use them to gain valuable intelligence to assist with investigations. We also look at the Dark Web, Phone Applications, Human Trafficking and Social Media as well as Search Warrant and Subpoena's for social media providers.

Instructor:

Retired Detective George Chavez has been teaching a course on Crime and Social Media for the past 3 years and recently received his certification as an Ethical Hacker. Detective Chavez has a passion for sharing knowledge with Law Enforcement Officers around the country and has 32 years of Law Enforcement experience. The Crime and Social Media course has been very well received and Officers continue to want more information and feel the course is beneficial for all Law Enforcement personnel.

Class Comments from attendees:

"Thank you again for the great training yesterday! I left the class feeling as if I had really learned something, which unfortunately nowadays doesn't always happen. It amazes me how deep the Dark Web is!"

Inv. Issan Rodriguez - Investigations and Technology Unit New York

"The information provided, provided a lot better understanding of Social Media. There is a lot more information and capabilities of the internet and social media, than I ever thought. The instructor is very knowledgeable and prides himself in the knowledge he has acquired to be able to present and share with others."

Alan.Dykstra - Department of Public Safety-Texas.

"The course was excellent. I learned a lot about Social Media and how it will assist in investigations. Would recommend this training for anyone doing investigations due to the knowledge I left the training with."

Michael Sams - Department of Public Safety-Texas

"Loved the take home material and the wealth of knowledge the instructor had to share."
